The History of Driving Tuition

Jacq & Rob Mills

"We are small enough to care but big enough to deliver the highest standards to all our clients. XL Driving Tuition have a genuine concern for the utmost safety of all our pupils." - Jacq Mills

XL Driving Tuition was set up by Robert (Rob) Mills in 1996 (at age of 30). Rob comes from a family of business owners. He was very successful in Norwich as a sole trader generating the majority of his work from recommendations. In 2002 he met Jacqueline (Jacq) and they married in 2004. It was during this period that Jacq followed her partner and qualified to become a driving instructor as well.

This husband and wife team have proved incredibly successful. Both Rob & Jacq Mills lead their team as highly qualified Grade 6 DSA Approved Driving instructors.

In 2005 they looked to expand their business into a driving school. They were first approached by several driving instructors who had the desire to become self employed (under the XL name). They were looking for a more localized, personal company as opposed to one of the more national driving schools. Later that year, Rob & Jacq established their franchise business.

Today XL Driving Tuition have a strong team of 12 DSA approved driving instructors (ADI's). They are very proud of their team and feel privileged of the fact that no one has ever left XL Driving Tuition. Rob & Jacq feel that XL are capable of meeting everyone's needs due to each individual instructor specializing in their own particular field. As such they feel they are perfectly positioned and capable of handling the enquiries they receive.

Between the whole team, XL Driving Tuition cover Norwich and a wide area of Norfolk, including most hours and all 7 days of the week. They can offer both male and female approved driving instructors, both manual and automatic cars plus a huge range of courses from hourly driving lessons through to fully intensive driving courses, Pass Plus and approved driving instructor training.

Rob and Jacq oversee everything from taking the first phone call and booking, to taking the mock test a few sessions before the actual test. As such, all enquiries are handled by the highest of qualified grade 6 driving instructors.

In closing, Rob, Jacq and the team at XL Driving Tuition look forward to helping you achieve your goals.

Theory & Hazard Perception Test

Starter Packs

XL Driving Tuition assists you by offering starter packs to increase the chances of passing the Theory and Hazard Perception Test. These starter packs contain literature carefully chosen to assist pupils passing first time.

About the Theory and Hazard Perception Test

The test is carried out locally near Tombland in Norwich city centre, Norfolk. It is computer based and you will be required to answer a series of questions. It is designed to test both situational awareness, hazard perception and knowledge of the roads, Highway Code as well as key driving facts. It is made up of two parts.

1. Multiple Choice - tests your understanding of the theory behind driving

- You are given instructions on how the test works (plus a 15-minute practice session)
- The test last a maximum of 57 minutes. You will be asked 50 random multiple-choice questions. You have to select the correct answer to the question by touching the screen. Some questions may require more than one answer.
- You can navigate between questions and 'flag' questions to return to later
- To pass this element of the test you need to get at least 43 right

2. Hazard Perception - consists of 14 video clips (without sound) designed to test your ability to spot potential hazards before they become real hazards

- You are shown a short video showing you the format of the test (plus practice on some sample video clips)
- You take the view of the driver; when you see a potential hazard you click a button to indicate that you have identified a hazard
- There are 15 hazards; each contains a hazard. One clip contains 2 hazards
- All video clips start with a freeze frame of the scene & last approximately 1 minute
- You score from 0 to 5 for each hazard depending on how early you identified the hazard
- Maximum test score is 75 (15 hazards - max 5 for each clip) - pass rate 44 points

If you pass one part and fail the other you'll fail the whole test, and you'll need to take both parts again. Once you have passed the theory test you can then apply to take your practical driving test.

Driving Lessons

At XL Driving Tuition we understand everyone is unique. Experience ranges from the absolute beginner to those with many hours on the road. Our driving lessons offer encouragement and support to build driving confidence and the necessary skills. Even fully qualified drivers holding an international driving licence need to take a UK Driving Test.

XL Driving Tuition offer a variety of driving lessons and courses, priding ourselves in tailoring our teaching to individuals needs, timescales and budgets at highly competitive prices.

Normal and Refresher Driving Lesson Prices

XL Driving Tuition highly recommend 1½ or 2 hour driving lessons.

The rate of learning is greater over this period compared to an hourly lesson with the overall hours (and cost) being less. These longer driving lessons enable you to fully practice subjects whilst taking advantage of the discounted rate.

- £22 for 1 hour
- £33 for 1 1/2 hours
- £44 for 2 hours

Students/Low incomes

- £18 per hour for the 1st 5 hours

How many lessons will I need?

Obviously everyone is different. As a guide for the complete novice, the Driving Standards Agency (DSA) states... the average learner takes between 40 and 50 x 1 hour lessons with extra practice with a friend or relative to achieve test standard. If the pupil had longer lessons more aspects are covered, more time left after recapping next lesson and therefore less hours overall required.

We are so confident you will be satisfied with our friendly and professional service, we will give the 1st one hour driving lesson worth £22.00 FREE of charge (complete beginners only).

Intensive Driving Courses

XL Driving Tuition understands that flexibility is the key to meeting your needs. As such we offer: -

- 1 week fully intensive course. Typically consists of 30 hours tuition at flexible times during one week. There are ongoing assessments covering all key stages required. You will take a realistic mock test on an actual test route the day before your real test.
- Semi-intensive courses spread over a number of weeks/weekends. Typically 2 or 3 two hour lessons spread over a number of weeks/weekends.
- All day weekend courses. Typically 6 hours on a Saturday and Sunday

Intensive Courses: £22 per hour (manual)

(i.e. manual course - 20 hours = £440, 25 hours = £550 30 hours = £660)

Initial Assessment for 1 Week & Weekend Courses

Because everyone is different, we do not assume everyone will need the same number of hours tuition. As such we highly recommend an initial assessment lesson within which we can find out

- What you already know
- Your existing driving ability
- How quickly you learn new subjects
- Estimate how many hours tuition YOU require

The Theory & Hazard Perception Test

If you are considering a fully intensive 1 week course, we highly recommend you study for and pass the theory test before you undertake the fully intensive driving course. Having the full knowledge obtained by passing your theory test helps you concentrate on the intensive driving tuition.

Train to be a Driving Instructor

If you are looking to train for a new challenging career as a DSA Approved Driving Instructor (ADI) then XL Driving Tuition has the right course for you.

We can teach you as quickly or slowly as your personal situation dictates. Experience has taught us everyone has different aims and we are only a phone call away from discussing yours. We are extremely flexible and this has proven highly successful.

The Initial Assessment

We give a 2-3 hour assessment session before anyone starts their Driving Instructor Training with us. This initial session briefly covers all 3 parts of the ADI training giving you a real taster of the exam process.

The initial assessment has been proven to be very beneficial as it gives you, the trainee, a complete overview of the whole course. We will be able to judge approximately how many hours tuition you will require to prepare you for passing the examinations. You also meet our company representative who can answer any questions you may have.

The Examination Process... To qualify to be an ADI you must pass three exams

- Part 1 - a Theory/Hazard Perception Test
- Part 2 - a Practical Test of your Driving Ability
- Part 3 - a Practical Test of your Ability to Teach

All three exams, in that order, must be taken within two years. You have only three chances to pass each of the two practical tests.

How much will it cost to become an Approved Driving Instructor (ADI)

Tuition is £30 per hour Pay as You Go. We are confident you will successfully complete your training with us. As such we are more than happy to take payment via the pay as you go method. You simply have a lesson with us and pay for it there and then, so there's NO large, non-refundable fees payable up front. This enables you to qualify as an approved driving instructor at your own pace and financial circumstances.
